Doin' It The Hard Way

You go on and on but nothing ever changes much
You never recognize the trouble that is at your door
The bliss that is ignorance lasts only for just so long
And you're back to doin' it the hard way
(Everything is so much harder when you never learn)
Always doin' it the hard way
(Being in control is an advantage that you earn)

You won't admit that there are ways in which you need to change
You don't believe that consequences ever matter
The bliss that is ignorance...

In time the error of your ways will become clear enough
You'll realize what has been staring at you all the while
The bliss that is ignorance...

It's just a fantasy this great command you think you have
Every time you fool yourself you are the fool again
The bliss that is ignorance...

Blame It On The Moon

Blame it on the firelight
Blame it on the season
Blame it on the telling wind
Blowing for no reason
Blame it on the power of love to persuade
Blame it on the promises that never were made
Blame it on a fickle heart
That could not help but swoon
Blame it on a twist of fate
Blame it on the moon

To go back to that point in time
Would be all that I could ask for
To have another chance at love
Would be all that I could hope for Never doubt the power of love to abide
Never doubt the promises in which the heart can confide
The memory falls hard on me
It could wear me down soon
Blame it on a twist of fate
Blame it on the moon

Only A Dream

There was pandemonium
Danger in the air
People crying out
Suffering everywhere
I woke up only to realize it was only a dream
It's so true that some things are not what they seem

He was a model of success
A gentleman of wealth and taste
The envy of nearly everyone
Such a shame and such a waste
He woke up only to realize it was only a dream
It's so true that some things are not what they seem

So be careful what you wish for
Consider well about what you believe
Or you could find yourself caught up
In the tangled webs you weave
And you'll wake up only to realize it was only a dream
It's so true that some things are not what they seem

Lonely Heart

Lonely heart, be not afraid
Your confidence will not be betrayed
Sinners all, who are we to question
Lovers all, who are we to hate
The strength of our resolve is how we bear up
The measure of our pain is sorrow

Troubled mind, do not abide
You complicate and you misguide
Sinners all, who are we to question
Lovers all, who are we to hate
The strength of our resolve is how we bear up
The measure of our pain is sorrow

Weary soul, do not despair
You will prevail if only you dare
Sinners all, who are we to question
Lovers all, who are we to hate
The strength of our resolve is how we bear up
The measure of our pain is sorrow

Only Time

Only time can heal the broken-hearted
Only time stands between us and the future
Only time can allow for something wonderful to grow and to prosper
As the years go by only time can know
(The years go by and only time knows)
Where we're going and where we've been (Where we're bound and we're we've been)

Only truth can open eyes that will not see
Only truth is the measure of our intention
Only truth can allow for something meaningful to guide and to shape us
As the years go by only truth can see
(The years go by and only truth)
Through all the changes and all the lies
(Cannot change and cannot lie)

Only love can illuminate the darkness
Only love is the measure of our longing
Only love can allow for something beautiful to affirm and to complete us
As the years go by only love will last
(The years go by and only love lasts)
Through all the heartache and all the pain
(Through the heartache and through the pain)

Nothing Can Drive Us Apart

Some things are so simple you can't complicate them
Some things are so plain to see you cannot confuse them
Like my love for you and your love for me
Nothing can change that
And nothing can drive us apart

Sometimes there is meaning though you cannot define it
Sometimes there is understanding though no words can describe it
Like my faith in you and your faith in me
Nothing can change that
And nothing can drive us apart

Some memories linger for only a short while
Some memories bring us peace and joy for such a long while
Like my trust in you and your trust in me
Nothing can change that
And nothing can drive us apart
